

A Better Way to Provide Health Care

Designed for our community, by our community

Rising health care costs have put a burden on our local communities and businesses.

Employers are faced with difficult decisions regarding their benefits plan because convenient, high-quality care can be challenging to afford. In addition, benefits plans are not designed to be flexible or nimble to meet the needs of members. Promise Health Plan has developed a new model that allows health systems and payers to collaborate, coexist, and work together to help employers overcome these challenges.

Why Promise Health Plan?

For more than 10 years, our affiliated Clinically Integrated Network has been providing high-quality care to our local community and businesses. We have brought together a group of like-minded organizations and individuals to create a sustainable, provider-focused health plan that offers better cost containment solutions, high-quality care and a coordinated patient experience.

The Promise Health Plan network consists of providers who are committed to redefining the value-based care model to meet the needs of our communities. We leverage the power of population health data and focus on quality over quantity. This results in more effective care that supports improved health outcomes and reduces costs.

Our goal is to improve the well-being of our communities by providing sustainable, value-based care through our integrated partnerships and provider networks.
